PLANS BIG FARM ON CO-OPERATIVE LINE

Los Angeles Lawyer to Secure
1000 Acres and Share Farm
Profits With Men

Los Angeles Times: The elimination of the wage system, higher pay for the laboring man and greater returns for capital, are some of the results which W. A. Wotherspoon, an attorney with offices in the Security building, and his associates, expect to bring about with a gigantic co-operative agricultural enterprise.

Wotherspoon yesterday applied to the city council for permission to erect a big tent on Los Angeles street between Sixth and Seventh, for the purpose of holding night meetings and addressing unemployed men. A further hearing on the request will be held Tuesday.

Wotherspoon has been here about eighteen months. Before that he was in San Francisco, Portland and Denver. He says that his company will soon be incorporated with a capitalization of $2,000,000 and that $500,000 of this is already subscribed and paid for. He names H. A. Hart as temporary treasurer.

Wotherspoon's plan is to secure a thousand acres of good land near this city and handle it according to scientific and intensive farming ideas, employing one or more men to the acre. The company is to furnish all the money required and the laborers are to work without wages. Shelter, food, clothing and all necessities are to be furnished the men, he says, and at the end of every six months the net profits are to be divided equally, one-half going to the laborer and the other half to the stockholders.

SPEAKER HAS GREAT POWER

Tears and Laughter in Turn
Brought During Evangelist's
Great Sermon

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 26.—The 2000 persons at Wednesday night's camp meeting were electrified by Evangelist Brown's powerful sermon on "Human Influence," and tears and laughter alternated among the men and women who heard each word with remarkable attention. The speaker's terse and incisive comments on the everyday small sins of professed Christians, which, he said, were stabbing the church in California to death, met responses at frequent intervals. Cries of "That's so" and "God forgive us" resounded from parquette and gallery of the big auditorium alike, and faces wet with tears gave evidence of the preacher's power.

Taking his text from "Revelations," the evangelist referred eloquently to the influence exerted by every human being on the destiny of the world, and pleaded for carelessness in daily life so that no act of any professing Christian should influence a human being toward the paths of sin. He again scored the theater, the saloon and the card table as instruments for influencing the world to vice.

He urged the husbands to quit "having spells" of temper at home and then putting on their Sunday faces and their Sunday smiles with their Sunday clothes and practically asking God to inspect them only on Sundays and credit them with leading a religious life. He urged men and women alike not to continue to place their lodges or their club above their church. "You men," he said, "used to be pretty strong on joining lodges and clubs, but your wives and daughters and sisters are now 'going some' along that line themselves." He disclaimed any intention of belittling the work of lodges or clubs, but urged his hearers not to place them above the church nor to "sidle up to the church while they gave the right of way on the main line to lodges or clubs as it came booming along."

Next Sunday is expected to witness the largest gathering of people ever in attendance at a religious service in this section of Southern California. Hundreds of persons from Los Angeles have signified their intention of being present, and every church in this and neighboring cities has announced that it will close to give the congregations an opportunity to attend the camp meeting.

Special musical programmes will feature the three preaching services of the day, at 11 o'clock in the morning, and at 3 in the afternoon and 8 in the evening. Special cars will run on the Pacific Electric Railroad, and those visiting the camp meeting can return home at almost any hour of the day or evening.

ANCIENT AZTEC'S AGE IS VERIFIED

Further Probing Show Him to Have Been Nearly 200; Simple Liver; 7000 Descendants

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26.—Further substantiation of the report from Tuxpan, Mexico, of the death a few days ago at that place of Jose Calvario, at an age lacking only fifteen years of the two-century mark, was contained in a letter received here yesterday from Frank L. Watson, an American mining man at Collina, Mexico.

"I was at Tuxpan the day Calvario died," he writes. "I had seen the old man walking about the streets of the town many times and he was often pointed out to me as being nearly two hundred years old. So interested were the state officials in the report of the great age of the man that a special commission was appointed to investigate the claim. The records of the parish church show that he was born in 1737. He left 7000 descendants.

"He often told his friends in joking manner that he had the largest family of any man in the world. No one knows how many times he was married, but it is commonly reported that he married his last wife when he was past the age of 150 years and that they had several children.

"Calvario was an Aztec Indian. His rules of living were simple; in fact, he observed no set of rules. He ate whatever he liked, and, of course, his poverty prevented him from eating very sumptuously. He was a moderate drinker of native liquors for 145 years, according to his own statement, made many times to friends, and his memory did not go back to the time when he began smoking the Mexican hand-made cigarettes.

The Widening Skirt
One of the ugliest ideas ever exploded is certainly that of a skirt considerably shorter at the front than at the back, a reversing of the true order that makes the figure absolutely grotesque.

SPIRIT OF '76 INSPIRES THE LEADERS OF THE NEW PARTY

(FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN)

The spirit of the movement which has for its object the freeing of the public mind from partisan prejudice and the restoration of genuine popular government in the nation is well expressed by William A. Prendergast, who three years ago was elected controller of New York city on the anti-Tammany fusion ticket. In an appeal to the progressive voters of his state to rally to the support of Theodore Roosevelt he says:

"A new party is a necessity because so many have come to realize the hopelessness of truly efficient and upright government through the agency of either of the old parties unless they could be effectually divorced from the sinister control of those who believe that 'the power to take is a fitting rule of life.' The only relief lies in a new deal and a square deal. Only through the formation of the old parties can the people bring about the legislation necessary to make the government administered in their name responsive to their will. The line-up is plain. The Republican party, as represented by the remnant that endorses a stolen nomination, stands for plutocracy; the Democratic party stands for a compromise between plutocracy and democracy; the progressive party stands for real democracy, the kind that means a government of and by and for the people. The paramount issue is something more than high tariff, tariff revision or tariff for revenue only. It is plutocracy against democracy. And on that issue every progressive in the nation should join the new party and cast his ballot for Theodore Roosevelt."

After pointing out that the principles represented by the party now in process of organization are as necessary to the effective betterment of state and local affairs as they are essential to the perpetuation of the national government, this people's champion, who speaks for the masses in a stronghold of special interests, calls for a forward movement all along the line, for a fight against every reactionary candidate, from constable to president. And then comes this patriotic plea:

"Let every man who has in him the spirit of the minute men of Concord and Lexington follow the example of a tear in appearance.

Even the scarfs that are now draped round the figure do not impede the motion in any way. For the present these are quite meaningless and to be avoided, though an exception might possibly be made in favor of one of the new draperies, which are not altogether unattractive. These are accompanied usually by a plaited underskirt, but plaited are not yet showing in Paris, though American dressmakers seemingly have determined that plait will be a feature of the spring novelty costumes.

It is the advice of Dr. Domann that parents keep their smaller children away from the dangerous contagion, and refrain from taking them to Los Angeles as much as possible. The result is feared if the disease once obtains a hold here, as it sometimes spreads very rapidly. There are said to have been 128 cases of infantile paralysis reported to the health officials in Los Angeles since June 10. The disease invariably claims a large percentage of those it attacks, and many who escape are left more or less permanently crippled.

Future Usefulness Destroyed

A traveling man from the East went into a Kansas restaurant and ordered among articles of food, a beef steak. He was very promptly served and began the ordeal. The potatoes and bread he made short work with, but the steak remained unvulnerable. He—How much is my bill? Waiter—Ninety cents. He—But I didn't eat any of the meat. Waiter—But you beat it.—From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

BUMPER CROP IS EXPECTED

1912-13 Citrus Crop Estimated to Reach 44,000 Cars
Oranges: 6000 Lemons

Los Angeles Examiner: A bumper citrus yield in California, the largest ever produced and aggregating 50,000 carloads, at an approximate value, delivered to the Eastern markets, of nearly $40,000,000, is the estimate announced yesterday of the crop for the season 1912-13.

The citrus experts of the Santa Fe railroad, the California Citrus Growers' Association, and of independent concerns, have been visiting the fruit-growing sections of the state for the past several weeks, carefully inspecting the orchards for the purpose of estimating the size of the coming season's output.

The reports returned are more than encouraging as regards the orange crop, although it is evident that the lemon crop will be somewhat light next season, due to the unusually cold weather of last winter, which has weakened the lemon trees. The winter's frosts, although cutting down last season's crop materially, had apparently no lasting effect on the orange trees, which universally give evidence of a bountiful crop of unusually large oranges next fall.

Estimates Approximate

The estimates made by the experts, as announced by the officials of the Santa Fe Railway, and of the citrus shipping concerns yesterday, is but a rough approximation and subject to change. No comparatively accurate estimate can be made until the "dropping season" of the citrus fruits is over.

The hot spell of last week started the oranges dropping, and it has only been within the last day or two, when, by observation, it could be ascertained that a big percentage of the forming citrus fruit would remain on the trees, that any kind of an estimate could be made as to next year's crop.

The reports from all over the Southern portion of the state are to the effect that the oranges are further advanced than they were at the corresponding time last year, which gives us an indication that the crop to be gathered this fall will be of superior quality.

Northern Crop Light

The crop in the north of the citrus belt, however, will be light. The unusually hot weather in Central California during the past month has caused a heavy drop, so heavy in fact that in some sections only 25 to 50 per cent of a crop is reported. The estimate of 50,000 carloads for the coming season's crop is made both by W. G. Barnwell, general freight agent of the Santa Fe system coast lines, and by the officials of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and is corroborated by the reports coming to the independent shipping companies.

The citrus fruit crop of last year, which was the heaviest yet produced in California, was 42,000 cars. This crop would have been much larger had it not been for the unusually severe frosts.

What Figures Show

The estimated 44,000 cars of oranges will mean 17,600,000 boxes of oranges, and the 6000 cars of lemons will amount to 2,016,000 boxes. The net value of the crop, figured at a price conservatively estimated by the large dealers for next season's crop, should bring $26,032,000 net to the growers, $22,000,000 for oranges and $4,032,000 for lemons. The cost of packing will be approximately $10,322,000, which includes boxes, and the labor of handling the fruit from the picking to the time it is placed on the car.

According to the estimate of the price that will be paid by the Eastern market for the California product next year, the citrus fruit should bring $39,736,000.

AMUSEMENTS

A TOUCHING SCENE.

Witnessed Recently at Auburn, N. Y., State Prison.

"The World's Greatest Singers," the Mountain Ash Male Chorus of Wales, composed of eighteen artists under the efficient leadership of T. Glyndwr Richards, have made themselves famous not by song alone, but by scattering little rays of sunshine along some unfortunate's pathway. Just for example, the men had been singing every night for the week, giving a matinee Saturday afternoon and a concert to a packed house in Auburn Saturday night. Sunday night they were also booked for a sacred concert in one of the leading churches of that city, but the great leader, out of the goodness of his heart, when he learned there were behind the bars in State's prison at Auburn fifteen hundred men, put it up to his boys to go and put a little ray of sunshine in the prisoners' lives by giving them a Sunday morning concert. When Sunday morning came every member of the choir was on duty, and when the nightingales from Wales were ushered to the chapel behind the grim walls and on to the platform facing the fifteen hundred men, they realized it was truly an opportunity to gladden sad hearts. Every fellow sang with all the fervor of his soul. The beaming countenances of the prisoners plainly told the power of song. Then when the chorus struck the old familiar strains of "Old Black Joe" it brought back to many memories of happier days; soon the tears were trickling down strong men's cheeks. Rich, sweet, melodious strains, though they brought the tears, lifted up the men's spirits, and when at the close of the concert the prisoners were invited to join in the Doxology, all sang with fervor, for they had been truly lifted up into heaven by the beautiful songs of the World's Greatest Singers. Beautiful Huntington Beach

A Justly Popular Beach Resort—A Charming Spot for a summer or winter home—A thriving agricultural center

HUNTINGTON BEACH is a combination of almost everything desirable for the home-seeker, sojourner, investor and those on pleasure bent. Its climate is perfect at all seasons of the year; its social and moral conditions are unexcelled; its beauty of location, with superb mountain and marine views, is the delight of all who behold. Besides being a popular beach resort, with fine surf bathing and fishing, modern pleasure pavilion, pier and bathhouse, a superb beach and slightly ocean front bluffs, Huntington Beach is a commercial and industrial center. It has a "back-country" of thousands of acres of the richest and most beautiful agricultural lands—peatlands for celery, sugar beet lands, bean lands and lands suitable for all kinds of crops. On the outskirts of the city are located a great sugar factory, tile factory, barley-crushing and bean-cleaning plants. The city has over 1500 inhabitants and is growing rapidly. Splendid schools and churches are there, broad paved streets, fine business blocks, beautiful homes. Railroad facilities include the Southern Pacific steam road and the Pacific Electric trolley lines, one running in from Santa Ana, the county seat of Orange county, and the other from Los Angeles, extending on to Balboa. Arrangements have been made by which Huntington Beach will in future have a 45 minute car service to Los Angeles the year round with three flyers daily to Zaferia, the junction for Long Beach. Huntington Beach has been chosen year after year as the place of meeting for the Southern California Veterans' Association, Aug. 13-23; Socialists encampment July 1-7; Methodist camp meeting July 21-August 4.

One of the most popular attractions of Huntington Beach is its "Tent City," located only three blocks from the ocean, convenient to car lines. The grounds are attractively laid out and planted with trees and shrubbery.

Huntington Beach homes are surrounded by beautiful lawns and gardens, the rich character of the soil and the abundant supply of pure water making it easy to grow anything.

For Sale—40 acres good rich sandy-sediment loam, all under cultivation. Four room California house, 7-inch artesian well, 8 h. p. pumping plant and plenty of shade trees. Price $250 per acre. Half cash, balance easy at 7 per cent.

MOUNTAIN ASH MALE CHOIR

HOW ITALY STANDS
EXPENSE OF HER
WAR WITH TURKEY

An illustration of the hitherto unsuspected prosperity of Italy is the fact that she has not had to borrow a cent of foreign money for the expense of her war with Turkey. This war had cost Italy up to May 11 $47,880,000, or just $210,000 a day, since its beginning on September 27, 1911. Nevertheless, her 3½ per cent Government bonds are quoted in the markets of Europe between 97 and 98, varying, of course, from day to day. Bonaldo Stringher, Director-General of the Bank of Italy, has just made an official report stating that emigrants send at least $90,000,000 a year back home, while tourists spend almost if not quite as much in Italy.

Either one of these sources of wealth would more than suffice to pay the entire expenses of the war.

Money is so abundant in Italy that when popular subscriptions were opened in many cities for military aeroplanes to be presented to the Government, the lists were filled in a few days, the total amount of the subscriptions far exceeding those of a similar nature in France. In spite of the wave of popular enthusiasm for aeroplane flying in the latter country.

It is worthy of note that this war has cost Italy in human lives only 53 officers and 549 men, according to the official figures, an unprecedentedly small loss for eight months of active warfare.

LARGE BUILDING CONTRACTS IN PROSPECT

New Hospital and Grammar School Chief Subjects of Interest Now

NEW FACTORY BUILDING STARTED THIS WEEK

Plans For Future Work Now in Definite Shape to Assure Busy Season

Interest of the local building trades is now chiefly centered in plans for the new county hospital and the new grammar school in the southern part of the city. Both of these, it is expected, will be built during the coming fall and will add materially to the proportions of the building boom which is expected.

Contract having been let for the grammar school, which is to be at the corner of Fairview avenue and Broadway, it is expected that work will be started in a very short time. The building is to contain nine rooms, will be built in the mission style and will be equipped with all modern conveniences. The contract price is $21,500. A. C. Black has the contract, and this assures work for a considerable body of men during a period of many weeks.

It is understood that the Board of Supervisors will shortly call for competitive plans to be submitted by architects for the county hospital. This method of procedure is required by state law, but is not always observed. After plans have been adopted bids for the construction work will be called for, but it is likely that before this is done the site will be determined on. As yet it is not known what character of building is contemplated, but the probabilities are that it will be of substantial as well as attractive character, and as nearly fireproof as possible. The building is likely to be the subject of some lively bidding on the part of the various lines of building trades interested.

Building permits during the past week were few, and there is strong evidence of a summer dullness just at present. However, many projects for the future have assumed definite shape, and there is no prospect of a paucity of work. Work was started this week on a building to be erected for F. E. Keizer on Santa Fe street, near First, to be utilized by Dale & Company as an irrigating pipe factory and warehouse. It is to be 50x100 feet, built of frame and corrugated iron.

Architectural Designer F. W. Opp has prepared plans for a modern six-room frame bungalow to be erected for Valentine Dubois at the corner of Nineteenth and Broadway. It will be finished inside in handsome style and will cost about $2500. Mr. Opp has also prepared plans for a seven-room residence in Swiss chalet style to be built by Bert Newman at a cost of about $2000.

ADDRESS

W. W. WILSON, Mgr.

East Newport, Calif.

WAS BUILT TO ENDURE

Spurgeon Block Has Walls
Which Will Easily Bear Up

Four Stories

Talk of the remodeling of the Spurgeon building, on West Fourth street, into a four-story structure, has raised the question in the minds of many as to whether the foundations and walls would be adequate for such a building, it not being the usual thing to build two-story houses in such substantial manner that they may be made to carry double the original weight.

Those who are acquainted with the building, however, know that it is an exceptional structure in more ways than one. For one thing, there is not a building west of Salt Lake City, it is said, with so wide an open span—62 feet—without a truss to support the span. The building was designed and constructed by H. H. Roper, at present city building inspector, and when he proposed to build the wide hall without a truss, many architects said it could not be done. Mr. Roper worked at the plan for some time, however, and finally found a way which not only proved feasible, but has stood the test of time perfectly.

In the old days they put up buildings to stay put, and the Spurgeon block was started with foundations 42 inches wide, set in trenches in which the earth had first been laboriously packed by weeks of hand work. They have never settled the fraction of an inch, and are as solid as the bed rock. The walls above the foundations are seventeen inches thick, and are able, it is said, to support the weight contemplated with a wide margin. However, it is going to be some job to tear out the interior of a building so solidly constructed.

HOSSLER BUILDER OF D. N. KELLY'S HOUSE

Among the recent buildings completed is the home of D. N. Kelly, on the northwest corner of Boss and Hickory streets. This building is particularly attractive owing to the concrete roof, which is a new feature in building coverings. The cottage contains six rooms, with all the latest conveniences and was built by H. H. Hossler, who has followed the occupation of carpenter for a number of years, being employed by A. C. Black most of the time. This is the first building put up by Mr. Hossler in modern cottages and certainly does him credit as an expert builder and finisher.

The Speed of Thought

How fast do impulses travel along the nerves? The speed has been duly measured by the aid of the elaborate apparatus with which the physiological laboratory of today is supplied. In man the rate has been set down at about 114 feet a second.

This measurement has reference to the rate at which messages of the bodily telegraph system are sent from nerve centers along motor nerves or those destined to bring muscles into play. But a second class of nerves exists in the body called "sensory," whose duty is to convey messages from the body to nerve centers. The rate of impulse in the sensory nerves is quicker than the motor nerves. In Papers have been recorded in the sale of eight-five acres by Sherman Stevens to Robert O. Simon. This property lies in the fine Lemon Heights district along the foothills near Red Hill, and is under a pumping plant water system that is of the very best.

As a part of the consideration in the deal is a deed of trust of the property to the Orange County Title Company to cover notes aggregating $35,500.

HOT WEATHER WISDOM
FOR BODY AND SOUL

To talk about the heat is often the part of folly, because it only calls attention to what cannot be helped.

But there is a more important consideration than mere personal comfort. The temperature not only makes a man unhappy; it also affects his efficiency. Just as a matter of keeping in trim for work, it is worth while to philosophize on the weather.

The two main evils are bacteria in the body, and bacteria in the brain. One is about as fatal as the other. Heat increases the growth of the insidious germ. It flourishes outside the body in the food and drink and air. It flourishes inside the body in precisely the same way. The physique is called upon to resist all sorts of malevolent fermentations and toxic by-products. This battle against the germ reduces the vitality and causes manifold derangements that may result in serious illness. They are largely accountable for the depression and discomfort during hot spells. This poisoning has a direct influence upon mental vigor, good spirits and temper. It is not due to the heat as heat so much as to the fact that the heat is the culture for microscopic and evil-intended bugs.

The manifest remedy is not only to keep cool, but to regulate the diet and reduce the strain upon the system to a minimum. The simplest food is easily digested quantities, plenty of liquid of a non-heating kind, fresh air and sleep will enable the body to throw off its unusual load of poisons. Most preparations are due to self-generated poisons and not to true heat apoplexy. This latter is a comparatively rare affliction. Use common sense in diet and you can keep cool.

VonSCHRILTZ

Says he has the best buy in an up-to-date 8 room house in Santa Ana, it is in two minutes walk of the P. O. it is a corner, fronts two nice streets in a very desirable neighborhood, there is plenty of room for another house, it is surrounded by nice trees and shrubbery.

It will rent for a good interest. It is a good place to live. It is a good place to rent. It is a good place to sell. But it is a better place to keep than anything of the kind in the city. If you want a home in a nice refined place I would like to show it to you. If you only want to talk and rubber don't come around. It is too good a buy to spend time. It will talk for itself.

A Mexican-American Tragedy

By F. TOWNSEND SMITH

A great many of the railroads of Mexico have been built by Americans. Many young American engineers have gone down into that country, and here and there one has not come back. The girls there have had something to do with these men remaining in Mexico. Sometimes the engineers have married there, and sometimes they have courted Mexican girls, but something has intervened, as in the case of this story.

Ralph Emerson, who was one of a surveying party, one evening after having tramped all day with a theodolite on his shoulder stopped at the house of a Mexican for something to eat and drink. He was served by a girl of fifteen, though as much developed as a woman of twenty in the north. Emerson, who had been graduated at a scientific school the previous June and was not overexperienced in matters concerning the opposite sex, was injudicious enough to smile at the girl. Had he fired a leaden ball at her it would not have had so momentous an effect upon her as that smile, though of a different kind. It—the smile—struck her right in the center of her little heart.

When Emerson went out of the house he took with him a bit of the tinsel with which her jacket was adorned. He very foolishly told her that he would wear it on his person, or, at any rate, keep it in his pocketbook. He might have said such a thing to a dozen sophisticated northern girls without producing any great impression on any of them, but not to this little girl.

Perhaps its importance would never have affected him seriously if Pepita had not already been spoken for. A swarthy Mexican named Jose, ten years her senior, had asked her of her father, and she had been pledged to Jose. He could neither read nor write, but he could shoot and stab. Emerson had no idea that in a momentary flirtation he was rivaling one so far beneath him and incurring a great danger. The day after meeting Pepita he wore her token in his buttonhole, rather to redeem his promise than for any other reason. He wore it just long enough for Jose to see it, then threw it away. But, thinking he might meet her again and would need it for purposes of gallantry, he picked it up and put it in his pocketbook.

When Jose met Pepita again and wished to salute her with a kiss as he had been used to doing, she repulsed him. Before she had met Emerson it made no difference to her whether Jose kissed her or not. Now it made a great deal of difference. He asked her what had caused the change in her, and she told him.

"The man I saw wearing a strip of gold braid off your jacket?"

"Yes."

Jose said no more, but went away. A few days after that Emerson was missed from the surveying party. His companions sought him high and low, but he was not to be found.

When Pepita heard of the young man's disappearance a diminutive tiger was born in her heart, for she knew what had become of Emerson. But she said nothing. She waited to see if his body would be found. Jose kept out of her way for awhile, but this didn't trouble her, for she knew he would come in time.

When he came she appeared to have forgotten all about the American. She didn't even ask Jose if she knew anything about him. Nor did Jose speak of him. On Jose's second visit after she had told him of her meeting with the engineer, she put up her mouth to be kissed. Jose was delighted. After all, her affair with the American had not struck very deep.

A month went by, and so did the party of surveyors. They had finished their work in the neighborhood and passed on. All hope of finding Emerson, alive or dead, had been given up.

One day Jose asked Pepita when they should be married.

"When you bring me the keepsake I gave the American," she replied.

Jose was surprised. He said the American must have gone away since he had not seen him for a long while.

"Then you must go after him and find him and tell him I wish him to send me what I gave him."

Jose said he could not do that, and Pepita said she would not marry him unless he did.

The desire to possess Pepita at last overcame him, and he told her that he was going to find the American and bring back the keepsake.

From that moment Pepita did not lose sight of him for a moment. The same night she saw him leave his house, and she followed him up into a rocky ravine covered with low trees. It was all she could do to get through the brush. She saw him stop, light a lantern and remove some dead wood and dry leaves, uncovering a body. That was all she saw, for she fainted.

The next day Jose brought her the keepsake. She took it and went to a town where court was sitting and gave it to the judge, telling him the story connected with it.

When Jose saw Pepita again it was in a courtroom. He was a prisoner, charged with murder, and she was the only witness against him. He was convicted, and when he was led out past the girl who had trapped him he gave her the look of a fiend.

But what did it matter to her, since the cub that had been born in her breast had become a full grown tiger?

Real lace waists, notably those in venise and Irish, are much seen. Irish lace coats are again being reviewed.

Large handbags in lace are very popular. They are swung from long cords and are carried with lingerie dresses.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Warm weather has made an excellent demand for lemons and a better call for limes than has ever before been experienced, according to dealers in these citrus products. The people of Southern California do not realize the value of the lime as a thirst quencher and as one of the guest of the citrus products grown here, and consequently the demand is not what it really should be. Frequently the dealers are forced to throw away large stocks of limes because the call is so light, and producers of citrus stock are chary of handling very many. It was only a few years ago that all of the limes used here came from Mexico or from Florida. The former have practically been barred on account of the scale which they carry, and the latter are seldom shipped in. The local market is plentifully supplied now, this being the height of the lime season. They are selling from 75 cents to $1 per hundred, and in large lots may be obtained even more cheaply. Long exposure to air and light after they have been picked causes browning of the skin and loss of market value. Lemons are unchanged and firm. There is very little really high-class stock obtainable, most of this being shipped East.

In the market of staples there were no price changes in any line. Receipts of eggs were 508 cases and the demand for them was fair. A few are being put into storage and reports of some eastern eggs on the way for that purpose are general. Case-count sold at 24¢ cents in a jobbing way. Butter arrivals were 31,209 pounds. The demand for this commodity was fair. Some eastern butter is coming in, second-class stock is in little call, with the cheap quotations on the best grades.

The potato market developed no features worth mentioning. Prices were still low and movement of stock slow at the figures called for. Receipts were 176 sacks. No onion arrivals were reported. Bean receipts were thirty sacks and the new stock is soon expected. Sweet potatoes were plentiful and sold along at 5 cents a pound.

NOTICE TO VOTERS
The general election for the county for the year 1912, as well as every other county in the state of California, is now being compiled. All voters who expect to participate in the general election, to be held on November 4th, for the purpose of electing electors for president of the United States, and for certain state and county offices, must register on or before October 1st. Registration should be at the state primary election, August 1st, and for the general state election on October 1st.

W. E. WILLIAMS,
Secretary.

The Blue Sky Boomer

BY W. A. ZIMMERMAN

Paper Read to the Orange County Bankers Association

My topic for discussion this evening, in one that is familiar to all bankers in Orange county, and as well, I presume, to bankers in all parts of the country. But my remarks are not intended for anyone in particular, yet I presume that all of us to a greater or lesser degree have knowingly or unknowingly been used, or misused, by persons who should have been "canned" rather than given the courtesy of our time.

My topic will be "THE BLUE SKY BOOMER" stock salesman. I believe there is no county of its size in the State of California where the demand for money for legitimate development, with a reasonable rate of interest for same is as good as it is in Orange county.

Not nearly enough money is available to go around, owing to the subdivisions of large holdings, setting out new orchards, building good homes thereon, leveling, grading, irrigating projects, building new schools and other forms of permanent improvements. Yet every day and every week large sums of money are being withdrawn from our banks, or orders in the shape of notes, are being given on prospects of crops, in some cases even before the crops have been planted or grown. This money leaves our county, and much of it our banks, or the people who give the obligations, or money, never see it again.

There is an old saying, "A sucker is born every minute," and I notice we are having our share of births in Orange county. One of our physicians recently reported five cases in one night in which he officiated as the into your town to open up a branch, and want to deposit a few thousand dollars, say for eight months or so, to begin with, but will add to it with large sums from time to time. They are operating on a large subdivision tract plan, and are opening a branch in your town and having heard that you are the only live banker in town, wish to come in when you can spare a few minutes of your valuable time (for which they are only too willing to pay) to have you look over their business proposition so that you will be in a position to act intelligently and give them the right kind of a "send-off" when asked to pass upon the proposition. They especially request that you look up their references, banking connections, their property interests, etc., etc. In a few days they come in again with another amount for deposit on the same terms, only for a period of six months and tell you that through some mistake the first deposit was made eight months and should have been six months, as they were saving it up for some special purpose that would be too much trouble if it is not too much trouble they would discount the original deposit $50 to pay you for your trouble if you would be kind enough to re-write the C. D. (certificate of deposit) for six months instead of eight.

Few of us, if any, have not fallen, some time or another, to something that looked fairly good when explained by the smooth, well-posted salesman trained in the art of displaying his wares, and his guarantee of its wonderful properties for at least 25 to 50 per cent increase in two years or less, and 8 per cent quarterly dividends in the meantime. The usual methods of these smooth salesmen are so well known that most of us need no reminder to recall their modus operandi of getting into the good graces of the bank or the bank officials.

Letters from some one who knew of you, and knew that you were the most prominent man in your town or community, a regular well-wisher sort of fellow, so to speak; or that old advisory board talk, or the board of directors, or the fourth or fifth vice-president gag; sometimes the division of profits, your bank the depository of the vast sums of money piling up year by year, which we could use for 2 per cent or less, or the prospect of large sums of money of which you are to have the exclusive loaning, have been a temptation which has influenced many of us to really feel that we were being benefited by cultivating the man who was offering us such a wonderful increase in our business, and consequently we have fallen for his plot to get acquainted with the people who would likely be approachable through the influence of an acquaintance with you, or a deposit in our institutions.

Now, with a deposit of a few thousand dollars, and having gotten sufficiently acquainted with you to learn your given name, they are ready to go forth after the game, and, of course, they get lots of them. In a few weeks the territory is thoroughly gone over and presto, new fields, new friends, new bank accounts, new suckers or victims. And so it goes ad libitum until the head promoters fall out over their spoils, or quarrel over the softest jobs, or a few subscribers get together and get after them just in time to help clear up the wreck and figure up the dividends payable—in red ink.

I have before me some of the most beautifully gotten up prospectus work I have ever seen, from an artistic printer's standpoint—good dividends guaranteed, but the only trouble is the guarantee is not very good.

Fine lands (for snakes and jack rabbits) close to a good harbor, good railroad facilities—in future, as the surveyor has run a line over it some time ago; and a big syndicate will commence building a road soon (nobody knows it only the general manager and the salesman representing it).

Lots of water on the ground, (but he does not tell you that it is in an iron pipe going through to some other fellow's land and he hasn't one-third enough for his own use). The raw land is worth perhaps $25 per acre to speculate or trade on, but in town lots (when the "town grows to it") it will be easily worth $250 to $300 per lot, and that is where they make so much money for you. They bought it for $25 per acre, or have an option on it for that amount, and then mark it up to $600 per lot; five lots per acre makes a net profit of $1475 per acre and on a thousand acre tract, $1,475,000.

Often time, they induce some of the employees to get out letters stating that they have accepted a place on the board of directors of the new institution, etc. All of this it is unnecessary for me to repeat, except to call your attention to some of the things we should not do.

One of the latest schemes I have heard of is about as follows:

In come three or four fine appearing, well-dressed men who have just come afraid to pass the word along our ranks of spurious looters that come into our midst.

I am sure that the legislature will give us some good laws on this if we only insist upon it. The banks have to stand pretty close scrutiny from our banking department; why should not other institutions that seek the people's money be made to stand at least a part of the same scrutiny of our state or government departments?

ZEMO FOR YOUR SKIN

Eczema, Pimples, Rash and All Skin Afflictions Quickly Healed

No matter what the trouble, eczema, chafing, pimples, salt rheum, Zemo instantly stops irritation. The cure comes quick. Sinks right in, leaving no trace. Zemo is a vanishing liquid. Your skin fairly revels with delight the moment Zemo is applied. Greatest thing on earth for the general ledger and all is done.

Easy, isn't it? The dividend bait helps to sell more stock, like the old man that bought more ground to raise more corn to feed more hogs, to buy more ground to raise more corn to feed more hogs, and so on, until—well, until the end as above mentioned.

The most deplorable thing of all is the fact that the stock salesmen just seem able to smell out an old man or an old lady or someone that is not acquainted with business and sharpers' methods, and get them with about the same precision that the fox terrier gets a gopher in a flooded alfalfa patch.

Zemo is prepared by E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., and is sold by all druggists at $1 a bottle. But to prove to you its wonderful value it is now put up in liberal size trial bottles at only 25 cents and is guaranteed to do the work or your money back. Sold at Wheeler & Meier Drug Store.
